California's Newest City

Congratulations to residents of the community of Lemon Grove.

You are being delivered a new, robust city.

Its time, indeed, had come, as the pre-election information pamphlets put it. The vote was a healthy 3,248 to 1527 in the March 1977 election.

Voters also showed astuteness in their choices for council.

Hindsighters would be hard-pressed to make better selections. The new city council represents a cross section of community leadership. Each member has proven himself in his chosen profession. Each represents the highest ideal of capability, integrity, loyalty and community interest.

All have histories of civic, church, professional and/or service club activities. There is none whose actions or character would embarrass the most sensitive citizen. Few councils can make such a claim.

Jim Dorman is an attorney who accepted a leadership part in most local campaigns such as United Way, Old Time Days Assn. and others. Professionally, he has earned the respect of fellow attorneys, judges, district attorneys and law officers. He is past president of the Lemon Grove Lions club and presently serves as a director of the Lemon Grove School District.

He is past chairman of the L.G. Old Time Days Assn., the L.G. Men's Club and the L.G. Planning Assn. where the first community plan was hammered out. He served as co-chairman of the Reorganization Committee for Incorporation until he became a candidate for council. Recently, he resigned as member of the United Way Volunteer Bureau Council because of his added responsibilities.

During WWII he served in the Marines.

Dr. Robert Burns, a veterinarian, long active in civic affairs, earned the respect of the community of doctors of veterinary medicine as an appointee to the California Board of Veterinary Examiners and is past president of the S.D. Veterinary Assn.

He is a former board member of the L.G. Kiwanis Club and of the Knights of Columbus.

Years ago signs of community leadership were apparent when he became one of the leaders of the L.G. Swimming Pool Assn. That effort finally became Lemon Grove's first park . . . the one at Washington and Alton.

He has the unusual record of having served in the Army, Navy and Marine Corps during WWII.

Dell Lake is a retired Navy chief who served his country with distinction. Rather than to loll about exchanging stories with other former Navy people, he started and ran successfully a trophy and engraving firm in Lemon Grove. He was co-chairman of the Reorganization Committee for Incorporation which was under the guidance of LAFCO (Local Agency Formation Commission) until he resigned to become a successful candidate for city council.

He is past chairman of the Old Time Days Assn. and past president of the L.G. Kiwanis Club and the L.G. Chamber of Commerce.

He is an officer of the Mission Beach Coast Guard Auxiliary. W. Dale Bailey is the former pastor of the Skyline Wesleyan Church in Skyline dr. in Lemon Grove. During his association there the church drew a record membership of young people. He is now minister of the Covenant Presbyterian church in San Diego and is past president of the Lemon Grove Rotary club.

He has been County Youth Leadership chairman for the Rotary club. He is a former counselor for S.D. City Schools for "Youth Values."

He served as the Rotary club's wrestling club at Mt. Miguel High school.

Jack Doherty is a relative newcomer who recently showed his ability in civic matters by single-handedly gathering names on petitions by which the area near his residence would be brought into the boundaries of the Lemon Grove Fire Protection District. His performance on the council-to-be indicates that he'll be the new city's activist official. Doherty has a law degree.

Professionally, he is legal advisor to the San Diego Police Department and teaches Police Science at Miramar College.

As an instructor, he has written a list of police training articles some of which have appeared in state and national police publications. He is a recognized expert in "Heroin Influence Symptomatology" by which officers may tell if the suspect is a heroin addict and if he is under the influence of the drug. He testifies in court as an expert witness on substance abuse.

Before moving from patrol duty to the legal post, he convinced the S.D. City Planning Department to develop a crime element in Golden Hills Community Plan in which it was shown that land use decisions made 50 years before had contributed significantly to the present and future crime problems there.

City planners said that is was the first time in the nation that associated the two conditions. Parts of the program are now in use.

He also developed a "pupil chart" with interpretative information so that officers could recognize substance-abuse suspects in the field more accurately.

Dorman, Burns and Lake comprise the board of directors of the Lemon Grove Fire Protection District. This District has a reputation for efficiency that has attracted county-wide attention because it has a Fire Rating (Rated 4) that provides one of the lowest fire insurance costs to residents of the district. It also operates on one of the lower tax rates (88.8 cents) in the County.

The Fire Department will be absorbed by the City November 1 and the LG FD Board of Directors will be disbanded. The operation will be taken over by the City Council and the experience of the three board members will serve the City well.

San Diego County will continue to levy taxes and collect property taxes—perhaps forever. Lemon Grove City will set its local property tax-rate in July 1978 and collect the income in December. The County will continue to provide all services through June 30, 1978 at no cost to the new city.

But the City will collect the various state-collected taxes on collections made here from October, 1977. These funds will be delivered to the City about late January or early February.

The City should have a total income of about $2 million a year and after the first year of operation, with the county picking up the cost of services it will provide, there should be as much as a million dollars in the City treasury, according to Tom Parks, a former city manager of the City of Imperial Beach. His counsel as liaison between county and city has taken much of the guess work out of the complicated process of starting up a new city. He is on loan, at no cost to the city, from the County's Office of Intergovernmental Affairs.

Friday's Ceremony To Be Meaningful

The inaugural council meeting of the City of Lemon Grove is scheduled to start promptly at 8 p.m. Friday in the auditorium of the L.G. Junior High school.

The ceremony will not be long but it will be meaningful. Those taking part, in addition to the five councilmen-elect, have all contributed greatly to the making of the city.

After the ceremony there will be a short business session where the first ordinances will be passed. They are vital to the operation of the city when it begins to function Friday July 2. One ordinance, certainly, will be the approval of employment of the city attorney. Without him the rest of the ordinances might have to wait.

The agenda: Introduction of temporary chairman, Karen Thomson, who probably worked as long and hard for incorporation as any other individual.

Former Supervisor of the 2nd District Dick Brown will issue the Call to Order.

Board of Equalization Executive Optimistic On L.G. City's Future

Business activity in Lemon Grove is nearly four times as much as it was ten years ago, Iris Sankey, Member of the State Board of Equalization, said last week on a visit to this city.

Sankey said Lemon Grove reflects a healthy business climate and a good growth pattern.

Retail sales advanced from $13.1 million in 1966 to $52.8 million in 1976, an increase of 301 per cent. This phenomenal growth in sales is more than twice the statewide sales growth of 143 per cent within the same period and is far in advance of the San Diego County trend of 234 per cent.

During the ten-year period the number of retail stores in Lemon Grove increased by 68, from 141 to 209.

As the economy of the city has become more diversified, service establishments and non-retail outlets expanded from 224 to 364.

The most significant expansion was in eating and drinking places which grew from 37 to 49 outlets, home furnishings and appliance which increased from 9 stores to 20,

LG CoC Advances Plaza Club Plan

The Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce Thursday viewed drawings of the proposed Information Sign that is to be installed on the railroad right-of-way. The sign will list meeting places and times of local clubs. Board members Olin Thompson and Bob Russell were authorized to establish height, width and exact location with the San Diego & Eastern RR, owners of the land.

President Griff Clark called for the launching of a membership drive. A mail program to accomplish it will get underway with Jim Boyd and Dave Harvey in charge.

Mike Torres, an employee of Broadway Hardware volunteered to clean up the mid-town plaza with emphasis on the part around the landmark lemon. Harvey then volunteered to water down the area so that it would look presentable for Inaugural Night Friday. Jim's U-Rent volunteered equipment for the job.

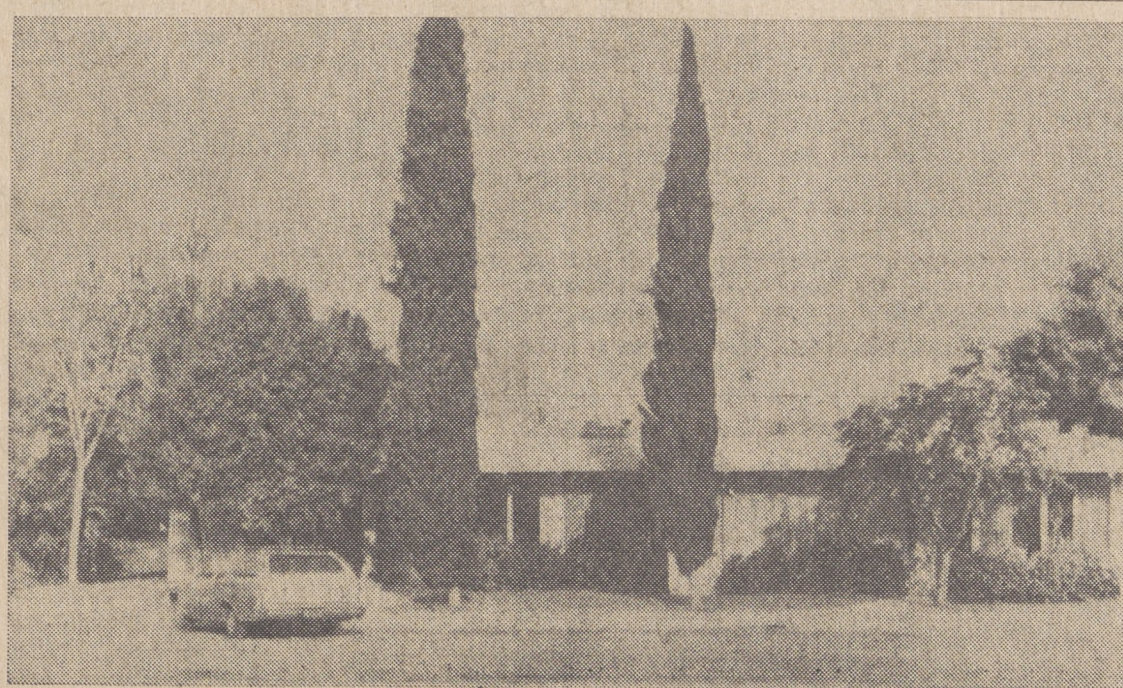

The promotion of BoA manager Carl Lacki created a treasurer's vacancy. Bob Guest, manager of Crocker National Bank volunteered to serve as interim officer.

Hard Work and Care

Charlotte Langley, management assistant of the County's Intergovernmental Affairs Office said this week that the work her department did on incorporation was "very satisfactory."

"We worked hard for Lemon Grove with its reorganization program because it was challenging and we cared," she said.

The project was made more complex by the annexing of the Vista La Mesa area to La Mesa. It also changed the tax base of the proposed city.

LEMON GROVE CITY HALL, on the corner of Main and North streets.

New City Chooses Hall Site Names Don McLean, Attorney

The Lemon Grove City Council-elect Thursday night named the attorney it wants to represent the council and the city. But he can't be hired until July 1 after members of the council are sworn in. City hall was also nailed down.

Don McLean, 42, city attorney for National City was chosen from a list of five. He will be answerable to the council rather than a city manager who is yet to be selected. McLean, a former deputy district attorney, served National City for 11 years. He was graduated from the U.S. Naval Academy, S.D. State College and Cal Western School of Law. His wife is city attorney for Vista.

McLean, according to Jim Dorman, chairman of the council-elect, said that McLean has offered to help draw up ordinances that will be needed when the officers are sworn in and the city becomes official. The council can't hire McLean until then.

Tom Parks, liaison between Lemon Grove City and S.D. County, had said that the city attorney and city clerk are the two jobs that must be filled immediately. The city clerk's job would pay $18,000-$20,000 a year, it was agreed.

Chooses Fergen Property

The council also agreed to enter into a lease for the Fergen property at North and Main streets. Three offices of

1185 feet total will cost approximately $600 a month and will be the home of the city government for the next two years, at least. Prior to the Thursday night meeting, councilmen debated the qualities of the Fergen property vs. the high rise building at the

Among the dignitaries meeting with the seniors from the project will be the five Lemon Grove City Councilmen-elect, Second District Supervisor Lucille Moore, Assemblyman Pete Chacon, and the 13 official representatives from the various federally funded nutrition projects throughout the county.

The celebration will feature lunch, a fashion show staged by the Spring Valley seniors, and live dance music by two members of the senior citizen band in La Mesa.

The Lemon Grove-Spring Valley Nutrition Project began three years ago on April 15, 1974, as a local element of

The County Board of Supervisors will hold a public hearing July 11 to determine whether the County General Plan needs an optional energy clause.

The clause would allow for future planning for programs which would meet oncoming energy problems.

The hearing is scheduled for 9 a.m. in Room 359 of the County Administration Center at 1600 Pacific Highway.

There's An Answer

By Dr. and Mrs.
Norman Vincent Peale

Easy-going boss

Q. I started to work when I was 18 years old and have progressed from the bottom up to data center supervisor over computer operations.

I'm a 40-year-old man, aggressive and always like to do a good job. By nature I'm very easy-going, and I guess this makes me very angry at times.

I get the feeling that seven of the nine employees (females) whom I supervise take advantage of my good nature. They do this by excessive talking and turning a coffee break in 30 minutes instead of 15.

The work always gets out on time, my employees like me and respect me, especially for my kindness and understanding.

But I find it hard to confront them, so I keep it all inside of me and get depressed. I need help. Do you have any suggestions?

A. Being ourselves particular about the efficiency of our office, we, too, are sometimes a bit disturbed by prolonged coffee breaks. However, if, as in your office, the work is accomplished efficiently... perhaps we should all conclude that the coffee break might be a help rather than a deterrent. It is possible that you need to relax a bit in your attitude. One way to do this might be to talk the situation over with your wife at home or another supervisor on the job, rather than keep the problem bottled up.

And if, indeed, the situation calls for it, you can kindly but firmly ask your employees to exercise greater self-discipline. We are sure they respect you, and probably most of them have no desire to take advantage of your good nature.

Afraid of girls

Q. I had a bad experience with a girl in which she didn't feel as strongly for me as I did for her. Now I'm afraid to get involved romantically even though I have a great desire to do so.

I'm a young man of 25 years and feel I should be able to pursue a relationship.

But I can't! Even when I think of it fear clutches at my stomach. When I'm around any possible candidates I freeze and withdraw.

This is a terrible way to be, I'm sure you can see. Could you give me some practical advice, some steps to take to overcome my fear of being hurt?

A. First of all, don't make a big deal out of the fact that one girl gave you the brush-off. Forget that one and keep on having normal friendly relationships with other girls.

In due course you will meet a young lady who will see your good points, who will like you genuinely for what you are. Stop dramatizing that idea of fear clutching at your stomach; and don't freeze and withdraw. Be yourself.

Other people are often afraid, too, girls as well as boys. Maybe girls are afraid of you. Stop inordinately thinking of yourself. Be a normal, happy, relaxed individual and take a real interest in other people. Girls and everybody else will then like you very much.

Perhaps you would like to find an answer for yourself to a problem that you can share with others in THERE'S AN ANSWER! If there is something you would like to ask Dr. and Mrs. Peale to discuss in this column, write to them in care of Box 500, Pawling, NY 12564.

CMA Suspects 'Whiplash' In Infants' Neck Injuries

Angry parents who shake their small children run the risk of damaging their offspring's spinal cord and brain or may even kill them.

This is the warning issued by the California Medical Association to parents.

The Association said in the past few years a newly recognized injury to children has been identified and labeled "infant whiplash syndrome".

Most of these injuries occur when adults, frustrated and angry at their children, shake them strenuously. Injuries also may occur when anxious adults try to wake up a child who is unconscious after a fall or convulsion.

The CMA said young infants have very weak neck muscles and only gradually develop the strength to hold control of their heavy heads.

If they are shaken, their heads whobble rapidly back and forth resulting in the same type of injury sustained in an automobile accident.

Vigorous back and forth motions of the neck and head may cause severe damage to the spinal cord in the neck and cause bleeding within the brain.

This severe damage is most common in very young infants although the CMA reported there has been cases of "infant whiplash" in three to four year olds.

For a long time, the CMA added, doctors were not able to recognize the cause of brain bleeding in infants because there were no outside marks on the children. The doctors saw only results of the damage and recorded the deaths.

Now, "infant whiplash syndrome" is suspected when infants have signs of brain bleeding without skull fractures.

The California Medical Association recommends not shaking children for any reason due to the injuries that may be caused.

Woman's Club Juniors Endorse Burn Group

The San Diego District Conference of the Junior Membership, California Federation of Women's Clubs have given their unanimous pledge to continue contributions to the Institute for Burn Medicine.

The Juniors, meeting for their annual conference June 11, have contributed more than $14,000 to the organization in the past four and a half years.

Accepting the pledge for the Institute for Burn Medicine was the Executive Director, Arlene Carsten. Carsten told the women the Institute faced difficult financial problems which could lead to the eventual closing of the organization's doors.

"This vote of endorsement by the District Juniors is most heartwarming," said Carsten. "Our entire support comes from the voluntary donations of the community."

"It has been through this source of funding that the Institute has been enabled to establish the Burn Center at University Hospital," she continued, "and to conduct its educational effort in the community."

Carsten said her organization received no funding from any of the big fund-raising organizations like Chad or United Way and depends upon the public.

"Since we are not a member of United Way or Chad," she continued, "it is upon the direct contributions to the Institute from the public that our program efforts have existed in the past, and on which they depend for the future."

WTT All-Stars Listed For S.D. July 9 Tilt

Ilie Nastase has been named to the west team for the World Team Tennis All-Star match and will play in the event scheduled July 9 at the Sports Arena.

The announcement was made by WTT commissioner Butch Buchholz, whose office had the option of naming two male and two women players to the east and west squads.

Buchholz also named San Diego's Kerry Reid to the west team and Cleveland's Marty Riessen and the Soviets' Olga Morozova to the east.

The All-Star squads, now complete are as follows:

East: Billie Jean King, Virginia Wade, Martina Navratilova, Sue Barker, Morozova, Bjorn Borg, Tony Roche, Vitas Gerulaitis, Roy Emerson and Riessen.

West: Chris Evert, Kristien Shaw, Betty Stove, Francoise Durr, Reid, Rod Laver, Tom Okker, Frew McMillan, Tom Gorman and Nastase.

Nastase, who played the 1976 season with Hawaii, will have performed in only three WTT matches this year prior to the All-Star event. His contract with the Los Angeles Strings calls for him to join the club after the Wimbledon break.

Buchholz said that he acted independently, under the powers of his office, in naming Nastase to the all-star team.

Choice Controversial

"I realize there will be the question as to the grounds for the Nastase selection since he did not play the first half of this season," Buchholz said. "My decision was based primarily on what I believed to be in the best interest of the fans, the thousands who will be watching in the San Diego Sports Arena and the millions seeing the event over (NBC) television.

"What's any all-star event in any sport but a showcase of the sport's talent. Nastase had been signed at the beginning of our 1977 season. He was at that time a member of a WTT team. No matter that he would miss a certain number of matches, he still was a part of the WTT and as such eligible for all-star consideration."

Buchholz did not deny that the Nastase selection might stir opposition from some league officials, and even some players.

"Obviously, I didn't make the decision to win a popularity contest among certain players and officials," Buchholz said candidly. "I'm prepared for the flack."

'Great All Star Show'

"But the fans, with Nastase in the lineup, are going to see even a greater all-star show. That's what is important."

Buchholz also said that each team in the league had to be represented in the all-star match and no other Los Angeles player had been selected prior to Nastase.

The Friars landed its second player in the event with the naming of Reid to the west squad. Reid, who started off slowly, recovered to win 7 of her last 13 singles matches and has a pair of wins over Navratilova to her credit.

Morozova, formerly ranked as high as fourth in the world, figures to lend doubles support for the east.

The regular five-set WTT schedule will be used for the all-star match, men's and women's singles and doubles and mixed doubles.

Excellent $5 seats still remain and may be purchased daily at the Sports Arena box office.

Seattle Slew in Debut Sunday at Hollypark

For sports fans who appreciate a true champion, the only place to be Sunday is Hollywood Park.

Seattle Slew, only colt ever to complete a Triple Crown sweep while undefeated, will make his California debut that afternoon when he battles the best three-year-olds in the West in the $300,000 Swaps Stakes.

Contested at the classic distance of a mile and one-quarter, the fourth running of the Swaps will give Southlanders an opportunity to see first-hand the thoroughbred many people feel may be the best ever.

Nine times Seattle Slew has gone to the post during the past two seasons and nine times he has come home first. His three scores as a juvenile earned him an Eclipse Award and his six straight victories in '77 make him a strong threat for Horse of the Year honors. His three most recent victories were witnessed by millions of viewers, since they came in the Kentucky Derby, the Preakness and the Belmont Stakes.

The Bargain

Purchased for $17,500 as a yearling, Seattle Slew can boost his career earnings close to the million-dollar mark with a Swaps victory.

Normally, post time at the Inglewood track is 2 p.m., but on Swaps Stakes Day, first post will be one half-hour earlier, at 1:30 p.m., with gates to the track opening at 10:30 a.m.

The Swaps comes in the middle of a big holiday weekend at Hollypark, a four-day extravaganza that will be climaxed Monday with the renewal of the $100,000 American Handicap.

The weekend stakes activity begins Friday with the $30,000 Westwood Stakes for three-year-olds and continues Saturday when the main event will be the $40,000 Lakes and Flowers Handicap.

Nicodemus Due At Los Alamitos For 3-Day Card

LOS ALAMITOS — The $95,000 Vessels Maturity, expected to feature 1976 Horse of the Year Dash For Cash highlights three Los Alamitos stakes events over the July 4 weekend.

America's fastest 4-year-olds will duel at a quarter mile in the rich Maturity on Saturday, following Friday's $15,000 Las Ninas, an invitational for 2-year-old fillies. Monday's holiday classic is the Independence Day Stakes for the best 3-year-olds on the grounds.

Along with Dash For Cash, who smashed Los Alamitos' track record for the 440 yard distance in the "Champion of Champions" race here in December, a Zure Request and Flashy Go Moore figure to stand out in the 10 horse field. While Dash For Cash was earning $240,000 in becoming the country's number one sprinter in 1976, a Zure Request was collecting $131,000 in gaining nine victories in 15 starts, including a runnerup to Dash For Cash in the "Champions". Meanwhile, Flashy Go Moore led the United States with 13 triumphs.

As is his custom, Jerry Nicodemus, the only jockey to ride two winners of the nation's richest race, the All-American Futurity, will fly to Los Alamitos just to be aboard the King and Phillips Ranch's Dash For Cash. In his only previous 1977 commute between Orange County and Ruidoso Downs, New Mexico, Nicodemus helped Azure Three annex the Los Alamitos Derby, the summer's biggest purse to date. Dash For Cash has carried Nicodemus to virtually all of his 17 victories in 21 lifetime races. He ran out of the money only once, as a 2-year-old.

Breakers Open at Home Tonight at S.D. Concourse

The San Diego Breakers, premiere team of the International Volleyball Assn. opens its home season tonight at Golden Hall in San Diego's Community Concourse against the Tucson Sky.

Equally important, Rudy Suwara, premiere player of the League has returned to the Breakers. This time he's a player rather than player-coach as he was last year when he led the team to the championship.

Suwara left to team to take a coaching post at S.D. State U., a job he'll continue to keep. His return will encourage more interest in the team than it has had to date.

Breakers officials report that the opening game is sold out — and that may be in the Concourse's limited seating. Last year the Breakers played in the S.D. Sports Arena

Junior Golf touches all who play or serve

A bunch of the kids were whooping it up on the golf course at the Naval Training Center last Monday getting in their licks against old Mr. Par and polishing their game for the upcoming Junior World Golf Tournament, teeing off July 19 through the 22.

The older crowd, those aging veterans approaching 18 years of longevity, tried the test at Torrey Pines as the Junior Golf movement moved into full swing with the annual Marvin K. Brown Junior Tourney.

After this week there'll be just one more warm up for the local junior swingers before San Diego plays host to the 10th annual Junior World Golf Championships.

And already more countries have entered this summer's swinging classic than were entered in the British Open, one of the largest and most prestigious events in the world of international golf.

Pretty Marie de Lorenzi, of France, leads a record field of girls into the tourney. As things stand now at Junior Golf headquarters on Temecula St. in Point Loma, some 65 foreign girls have entered the 15-17 age group. More than 600 total players are expected.

Junior golf competition is held in four age brackets and played over five San Diego courses. The 10-and-under finimists tee up at Presidio Hills where Billy Mayfair of Phoenix captured the title last year with a 2-over par 164 for the 54 hole test. Out to be out done, San Diego's own Karen Nicoletti took the girls title with a 202 total.

The greatest golf building story in the world (reported here some weeks ago) came to light last year when Angela Langkilde won the girls 11-12 crown and gave American Samoa its first champion. Angela prepped for the Mission Bay competition on the home-made, hand built Lava-Lava course carved out by Telosi Telani.

Joey Penafior, of Hallister, California, fired a five under par over the 3,175 yard Mission Bay course for the boy's 11-12 Junior World title, giving him back to back championships. In 1975, Joey won the 10-and under boys crown.

Philip Jonas carved out a 2-over par 218 for the 54 hole test on tough Balboa Park. Jonas, representing South Africa, is also a two time winner, having captured the 11-12 division title in 1974.

Pretty Sharon Barrett, of Spring Valley, became a two time winner after capturing last year's 13-14 title. She won the '75 10-and under title and is competing in 15-17 division at Torrey Pines this time out. The girls play the north course three times then join the senior division boys on the more difficult south Torrey course.

Chip Larson, of Scottsdale, Ariz., and Carolyn Hill, of Placentia, Calif. won the senior division crowns last summer, but Miss de Lorenzi took the second place trophy back to France and is highly regarded for the title this time out.

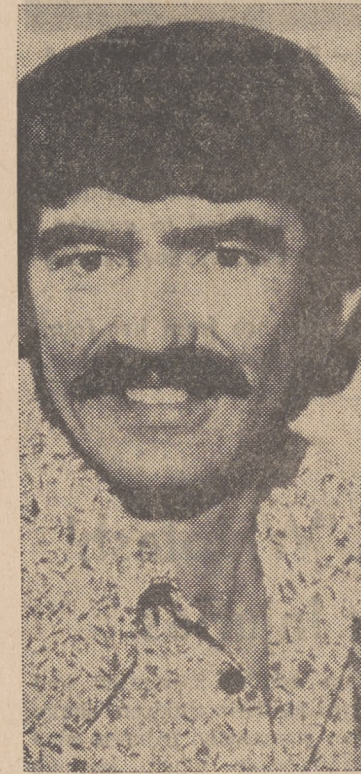

To date some 32 foreign countries have signed up and qualifying in PGA District in the United States is underway. The PGA has recognized the Junior World Golf Championships as its vehicle in promoting Junior golf, and holds qualifying tourneys in all parts of the country. Winners are sponsored to the tourney.

American youngsters stay in hotels and such, but foreign players are berthed in private homes. Language is sometimes a minor problem, although most of the youngsters speak some English. Patrons must agree to get their visiting player to the golf course and interested parties can call Mrs. Edie de Holl at 286-1706 for more information.

"We need some Spanish speaking sponsors," she said. "And until July 18th, when they register, I don't know what else."

Several years ago a boy from Taiwan who spoke no English entered the tournament. Sponsors were found in the San Diego Chinese community but when both parties met at the airport, they couldn't communicate. He spoke Mandarin, they Cantonese. They used much pointing and waving of arms and got along beautifully.

Overcoming such problems as this is one of the things that makes this tournament one of the great experiences of the times in the lives of all who serve or play. It's a real happening.

Suwara

where the fans often looked lost in the 14,000 capacity facility. The Concourse seats 3,500 nicely.

Hello Suwara,

Goodbye Marcoux

To accommodate Suwara, the team cut Pierre Marcoux and moved Gus Meet to setter. Ken Petersen, a returnee has been added to the lineup. His return gives back-up injured Duncan McFarland a chance to fully recover. On Wednesday it was not certain that McFarland would be able to play.

Bill Wardrop, who succeeds Suwara as player-coach said the home opener front line will be the same as last year's champions. "Sort of like old home week," he said.

The lineup for the opening play will very likely be Bill Wardrop, Rudy Suwara and Jay Hanseth, hitters/blockers; Gus Mee, setter and Rosie Wegrich and Linda Laws, back court defense.

Duncan McFarland and Kerry Deaver will relieve.

Charity Corrida In Tijuana Sun.

An All Star bullfight cast will perform in Tijuana's downtown plaza de toros, Sunday, in the city's annual charity bullfight, benefiting underprivileged children.

Manolo Martinez, Eloy Cavazos, and Humberto Moro, Jr., will encounter a herd of six fighting bulls from the Begona ranch in the four o'clock affair.

Martinez, considered by many aficionados to be Mexico's "Numero Uno" Matador, is known for his artistry and brilliance with both cape and muleta.

Providing a perfect contrast to the classic style of Martinez is Cavazos, the so-called "Little Giant", whose elfish personality, short stature, and flamboyant bravery have made him one of Tijuana's favorite toreros.

Moro, the young, blonde-haired Matador, is a rising star who has enjoyed outstanding success in recent years in Tijuana.

Motorcycles Back

At S.B. Oval Friday

In continuing with the Fourth of July motoring celebration at South Bay Park Speedway the short-track motorcycle clan will engage in its version of the Firecracker frenzies Saturday night.

Gates open at 6 p.m. Practices is set to start at 6:30 and the race action gets underway at 8 p.m.

The action is so swift, spectators hardly have time to settle in their seats. The motos are rushed out and around the smooth, dirt oval in clockwork fashion.

In past weeks the entries have reached as many as 75 and more and more riders are testing out the newest motorcycling facility in the southland. Previously, the riders used the half-mile track.

As for the half-mile, promoter Don Basile announced that it will be put to use again on July 24 for the fourth annual Cal Rayborn A.M.A. sanctioned show which will feature several national riders.

Top U.S. Spikers In Beach Tourney

Los Angeles — Will Rogers State Beach in Santa Monica will be the site of the world's richest international beach volleyball tournament July 3-4. Sponsored by Two Finger Tequila, the $6,000 Pro-Am tournament will pit clubs from all over the United States in open competition.

So far, 30 teams in the men's division and 20 teams in the women's division have entered, making it the largest tournament of its type in the world. Entry inquiries have been received from as far afield as Canada, Mexico and Puerto Rico, and invitations have been sent to the Cuban National Team.

Tournament rules state that each team, which consists of six players plus two alternates, may field one professional per team. With almost every name professional and amateur in the country entered, including Wilt Chamberlin, Keith Erickson and Pat Riley, the standard of competition is expected to be extremely high.

The teams will be involved in a round-robin pool play on the first day of competition with the two top finishers advancing to the semi-finals on Independence Day.

Tournament director Gene Selznick, who was responsible for last year's successful beach tournament, is expecting crowds upwards of 10,000 to watch the play.

San Diego's Greatest Tourist Attraction... Tijuana

Lyn A. Sherwood is an authority on Tijuana. He is an gringo bullfighter and understands the ceremony of the corrida. He is also a professional writer. He wrote this material for us as a guide to Tijuana and its environs. It's just the thing to clip and send to relatives "back home" or to show to vacationers who might be using your home as headquarters during their summer visit to "The Finest City!" Good luck!

by Lyn A. Sherwood

Sure, she uses too much makeup. Her pantyhose tend to sag at the knees. She's a bit raucous and brassy. A maiden by no stretch of the imagination, her perfume consists of generous applications of tequila behind the ears.

But, this is all facade. For those who will take the time to know her, and possibly to offer a bit of respect and admiration, she's a beautiful lady. Her heart is generous and pure. Given half a chance, she'll show you a time you'll never forget.

Her principal income is tourism. And, although to Americans, she's the second most popular tourist city in the world, exceeded only by Montreal, few visitors ever really explore her.

Their knowledge of her is only superficial. And, their memories are steeped in flashing lights, countless curio shops, zebra-striped donkeys which patiently pose for pictures with sombrero'd gringos, and general noise and confusion.

Yet, even these impressions are part of the charm of this very special lady. It's her act, her "schtick," that which is expected of her. So, she cavorts around in various shades of red, white and green, offering a bump here, a grind there, and a flash of something foreign to those who want to get away from it all, but not too far away.

Main Stem
Her main artery is Avenida de la Revolución, which has undergone quite a facelift in recent years. A handsome, new center divider, which is planted in native weeds and fauna, provides at least an illusion of order for the flow of traffic.

And, does it ever flow! A taxi ride through Tijuana is not recommended for those who are weak of heart or kidneys. The buses, taxis, police cars, and trucks see to maintain an adversary system. The right of way is reserved for the guy with enough guts to demand it.

Offensive driving is not only customary, but almost a requirement for survival. Double parking, for example, is much more convenient than trying to find a reasonably safe refuge.

Turn signals are so rare and arbitrary, they can't be trusted. The best rule of thumb is to assume that all vehicles are piloted by kamikazes. Oddly enough, accidents are few.

Better Part
In spite of this confusion, she is not without her elegance, this gal-called Tijuana. She offers many, outstanding restaurants, several luxurious hotels, every kind of recreational activity imaginable, and a tendency towards the less than subtle paradox.

Flanked by dozens of look alike souvenir shops, night clubs, and slightly off key mariachi groups, is Sara, a posh department store which offers the very finest, and usually very expensive, in European imports for men and women.

Walk along practically any residential street, past hole-in-the-wall abodes of various descriptions, and suddenly you're staring at a magnificent home, surrounded by a heavy, stone wall. The paint may be chipping on the outside, probably so as to better blend into the neighborhood, but like some homes you may have visited in San Francisco, the home and grounds resemble a mini-palace.

Take a drive up in the hills behind the Tijuana Country Club, and discover neighborhoods of homes which would look good in Beverly Hills. Of course, the plumbing may have a few leaks; the electricity isn't always dependable; and telephone service is a joke, but these little hardships, too, reflect the quaintness of the Tijuana lifestyle.

Tourist Invasion
This year, millions of American tourists will visit Tijuana. If they somehow manage to decipher the signs directing them around, above, and through the construction of the new water project, they'll attend a variety of events.

Most will come just for some shopping. And, if they enjoy a bit of lighthearted bartering, they're likely to pick up some excellent bargains on leather goods, wrought iron, glassware, candles, bric-a-brac, or maybe a plaster statue of Mickey Mouse.

Others come for the Jai Alai games, horse races and dog races at Caliente, or the bullfights in either of Tijuana's two major plazas de toros.

This latter event alone, will attract a couple hundred thousand Southern California residents and tourists this summer. Naturally, most haven't the slightest idea of what La Fiesta Brava is all about, but at least, they'll be able to say they've been to a bullfight.

Anticipating summer time and big crowds, the bullfight season begins rather slowly. Bullfights are held every Sunday at 4 p.m., from July through mid-September.

The downtown El Toreo ring is currently celebrating its 40th anniversary. All of the greats, from Manolete to El Cordobes, have fought in this plaza.

In mid-July, the season moves to the beautiful "Bullring by the Sea", the world's second largest bullring. As its name implies, it's located practically on the beach.

Insurance Suggested
For tickets, as well as information concerning all other events in Tijuana and Baja California, the best place to visit is Instant Mexico Auto Insurance, 223 Via de San Ysidro, near the Mexican border. Call (714) 428-4714. Ask for Mel Catarella.

And, on that subject, Mexican auto insurance should be considered a top priority purchase. Even though your own insurance company may insist that you're covered, the truth is that Mexican law recognizes no American auto insurance.

For about three bucks and some change, you can get the necessary coverage. Rates are set by the Mexican government.

In spite of some overreaction, had press in recent months, it's very doubtful that you'll have an accident, or encounter any other kind of problems while driving in Mexico, but it's still better to be prepared.

One of the most frequently asked questions concerning Tijuana involves the food and water. For the latter, don't worry. All water served comes from bottles.

Finger Lickin'
And, when it comes to restaurants, Tijuana can be a gourmet's delight. For others, there's always Bob's Big Boy de Mexico, or even Colonel Sanders de Mexico, where "finger lickin' good" translates to "para chuparse los dedos".

However, if you're interested in truly fine cuisine, it's available in abundance, and at very reasonable prices, in Tijuana.

Downtown, the classiest and most expensive restaurant is Reno's Roma Madrid, right across from the Jai Alai Palace, offers a variety of Mexican and Italian dishes. Try the carne asada with a bottle of room temperature Barbe- rone.

The old Caesar's Hotel, downtown, claims to be the originator of the Caesar Salad. Although this has never been verified, the Caesar Salad at Caesar's is, indeed, excellent, as is the rest of the menu.

Good Hotels
Several fine hotels are found along the route. The Palacio Azteca is a match for most American luxury hotels. It has fine dining services, dancing, and entertainment. One of the most popular spots is the El Conquistador, a motor hotel which sports delightful Mexican colonial decor, a coffee shop, excellent restaurant, and even a discotheque. Most of the bullfighters stay at the El Conquistador.

Approaching Caliente is the Ramada Inn, a pleasant hotel with a celebrated dining room and a fabulous Sunday brunch.

Up on the hill, across the street from Caliente, is the Country Club Hotel. Reflecting a unique, old world warmth and charm; it's clean, quiet, reasonably priced, and just a pitching wedge shot from the first tee of a well-kept, 18-hole, championship golf course. There, you'll also find tennis courts and a good pro shop.

Near the Country Club Hotel are several, small shops and art galleries which often feature veritable treasures at dream prices. Pick up a Servin painting, or a sculpture by the renowned Humberto Peraza.

The Races
At Caliente, of course, in addition to races, there's a fine restaurant. And, Pedro Domecq has a large tasting room, offering complimentary glasses of brandy and refreshing cocktails.

You're liable to be greeted by retired Matador Eduardo Solorzano, who will personally mix a frothy "Calafia" cocktail for you. It's delightful.

Another half mile beyond Caliente is Carnitas Uruapan. Noisy, busy, crowded, and alive with the sounds of competing mariachi groups, Uruapan is the place for that delightful Mexican delicacy "carnitas".

Carnitas are little pieces of pork which, through some incredible miracle, are deep fried, yet not greasy. Open a hot tortilla in your left hand. Spread sliced avocados on the tortilla. Lay in several carnitas. Sprinkle some home made Mexican salsa and a few onions on top. Roll it up and eat it like a taco. Bingo! Wash it down with cold beer.

Or, if you're in the mood for some serious, continental dining in proper surroundings, go a couple blocks further to La Escondida, which translates to "The Hidden One". It's well named.

Surrounded by a heavy, white wall and an iron gate, La Escondida sits amidst tall trees on a hill. The view, combined with a menu of delicious, international cuisine, is enough to satisfy the aesthetic senses of the most discriminating diner.

Goat & Lobster
Try a big lobster, or a New York steak. For the adventurous, the "cabrito" (barbecued goat) is sensational. If in doubt, ask your waiter for advice. You'll drop a few bucks at La Escondida, but the experience will be well worth it.

Speaking of bucks, the devaluation of the peso has made Mexico an especially attractive travel choice. Hotels and restaurants have been allowed to raise their prices a trifle, but generally, the federal price ceiling has been imposed on everything else.

Just don't try to buy booze to bring home, even if you're from out of state. That's a big no-no, and conveniently forgetting that you had a bottle or so in the car is liable to cost a big fine.

So, if you're thinking of getting away for a weekend, or even a week or more, and you're trying to decide between Las Vegas and Palm Springs, do yourself a favor by considering Tijuana.

But, when the lady shows you her garter, and winks suggestively, laugh and shrug it off. There's a lot more to see, if you'll just take the time to look.

OLD & THE NEW — Wally Knutson, left passes a gavel to William "Bill" White as officers change in the Lemon Grove Lions Club.

'Bill' White is Lions New Prexy

William White, vice-principal of Mt. Miguel High school, became the 30th president of the Lemon Grove Lions club Thursday night succeeding Wally Knutson, a Lemon Grove realtor, at installation ceremonies at Skandia.

White, a Marine Corps Reserve colonel, was athletic coach at Helix High school before coming to Mt. Miguel. He is in New Orleans this week for the Lions International convention.

Among programs being urged by White is extension of effort with the Service Center for Blind and sponsorship of a "Beep-ball" game where blind players "hear" the ball. 60 L.G. Lions members will attend the game on July 12 prior to the Padres-Giants game.

Past president Forrest Baxter installed Kenneth Johnson and Bonnie Shumate, vice presidents; Bob Russell, secretary-treasurer; Jim Dorman, tall twister; Ed Gumbowski, Lion tamer and Ernest John Emerick, Donald Johnson and William Foss, directors.

Past president Knutson and bulletin editor Les Cleer are also directors.

Caliente Pools Close For Maintenance

Aqua Caliente, the desert park named by the Spanish explorers for its hot water springs and located 95 miles east of San Diego on Highway S-2, will close its indoor therapeutic pools for maintenance from July 15 through September 15.

Campers and picnickers may still use the natural hot springs outdoor pool available in the park.

Fireworks, Derby, Chutes Climax 88th Exposition

Two appearances by the U. S. Army's Golden Knights Parachute Team from Ft. Bragg, North Carolina, fireworks, the Glenn Ash Show, and the National Diaper Derby championship crawl are among the closing weekend events at the 88th annual Southern California Exposition. The fair closes Monday.

The Diaper Derby event will be Saturday, at 1:30 p.m. on the Community Stage. Babies under the age of 12 months have qualified for the event in preliminary heats held during the early days of the Expo. They will be crawling a distance of 1/24th of a furlong.

The Golden Knights will make two spectacular jumps on to the grounds Sunday, and Monday at 3:30 p.m. The parachutists all have won a number of championships, individually and collectively.

Fireworks are set for 9 p.m. Saturday, Sunday and Monday. These will be displayed in front of the 12,500-seat grandstand following the Glenn Ash performances.

The Expo is open daily from 9 a.m. until midnight. Exhibition buildings are open from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.

Adult admission is $2, children six years of age and under are admitted free, and those between the ages of six and 12 are admitted for 50 cents.

Weekend Camping, Boating May Be Tough To Plan

Most of the reserved campgrounds are filled for this 4th of July weekend and only those with no reservation requirements may be the only ones left open.

The boating forecast for the weekend is not good with only four areas in the entire state open to boaters.

Open for boating is the American River, Lower Main in Sacramento County. The river is open 23 miles from the Nimbus Dam to the Sacramento River.

The Klamath River in Siskiyou County will have 56 miles open for boats from the Iron Gate Dam to Sejad Valley.

The Sacramento River from the Keswick Dam to Red Bluff in Shasta and Tehama Counties will have some 59 miles open to boating.

Also, the Sacramento River between Red Bluff and Colusa in Tehama and Glenn Counties will have open another 105 miles.

In all, most of the state's rivers are too low for most boats, canoes, and rafts.

The state parks on a non-reservation status are:

Southern Inland — Saddleback Butte and Anza-Borrego Desert State Parks and Providence Mountains, Salton Sea, Picacho State Recreation Areas.

San Joaquin Valley — Caswell Memorial, George J. Hatfield, and San Luis Reservoir State Recreational Areas.

South Coast — Gaviota State Park and Emma Wood, El Capitan, and Refugio State Beaches.

North Coast — Prairie Creek Redwoods (Gold Bluff Beach) and Salt Point State Parks and Sonoma Coast (Bodega Dunes) and Manchester State Beaches.

Northern Inland — Calaveras Big Trees, Samuel P. Taylor, Mount Diablo, Mount Tamalpais, Fremont Peak, Henry W. Coe, and Sugarloaf Ridge State Parks; Indian Grinding Rock State Historic Park, Austin Creek State Recreation Area, and Paul M. Dimmick Wayside Campground.

All state parks will have services at normal or near normal levels yet restrictions in water use will continue.

Scientist Warns Campers To Watch Out For Ticks

The Cooperative Extension Division of Agricultural Sciences, University of California is warning Fourth of July campers to be on the lookout for pajaroello ticks, a blood eating variety.

According to Edmond C. Loomis, University of California parasitologist, the ticks are found throughout California and Mexico and have recently turned up in southern Oregon and western Nevada.

Loomis said the tick usually attacks cattle and deer but it is not uncommon for sportsmen, hikers, deer hunters, ranchers, and campers to fall victim to them.

The pajaroello tick differs from hard-bodied ticks like dog ticks or so-called wood ticks in that they do not attach themselves to moving hosts. Instead, these parasites lie and wait for an animal or man to rest on the ground.

The beasts then crawl onto the host, bite and drop away. The, although it is so subtle the host seldom even notices it, causes local burning inflammation which last about 48 hours. Severe reactions do apparently occur in persons previously bitten and in persons having allergic reactions.

In the nymph stage, the ticks pass through three to seven growth stages, each stage requiring a blood meal that lasts 8 to 100 minutes. The adults feed in five to 50 minutes.

Most of these pests can sus-tain without a meal for nearly two years but the hunger is obvious.

The ticks are about 1/4 to 1/2 inch long and usually blend in well with the soil so that they are rarely seen. They live in foothill chaparral, scrub oak, cottonwood, mountains or mahogany brush areas inhabited by deer, rangeland cattle and horses.

The ticks are mainly found along the coast from San Diego County to Humboldt County and in the western slopes of the Sierra Nevada.

If bitten by these pests, the University of California parasitologist said to apply warm magnesium sulfate compresses and then an antibiotic ointment and a sterile dressing.

To reduce the chance of being bitten, Loomis suggested sitting on rocks or logs and periodically examine boots or pants for the creatures. To sleep in the areas, use a hammock or cot. If this is not possible, scrape the ground well and keep leaves away from camp. Always avoiding deer and cattle bedding areas.

The U.C. scientist said to date there is no known tick repellent.

Padres Saturday Game 8:30 Astros, Fireworks Monday

The resurgent and revamped two-time defending World Champion Cincinnati Reds will kickoff a busy home schedule for the month of July for the San Diego Padres as the Reds will be the first of seven different clubs to appear in San Diego as the 1977 National League campaign heads into its second half.

The Reds and Houston Astros will provide the competition for the Padres in the first few days of the month with single contests on July 1-2-3 and then the Astros following on July 4-5. Game times for the trio with Cincinnati will be 7 p.m. on July 1, 8:30 p.m. on July 2 and then the usual 1 p.m. on Sunday, July 3.

Starting Time Changed
San Diego's Saturday game with the Cincinnati Reds has been selected as the NBC backup for their Game of the Week series which necessitated the change in starting time from 7 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. The prime game will be the Los Angeles Dodgers at San Francisco although the Padres-Reds game will be shown in a significant part of the country.

As for the two games with the Houston Astros, the Monday and Tuesday, July 4-5 affairs are slated for 7 p.m. starts.

The five games with Cincinnati and Houston will be the openers for an extremely busy home month for the Padres as the club has no less than 20 games on tap in San Diego as opposed to just nine on the road. Looking down the line, apart from the Reds and Astros, the Padres will also be hosting in July the Los Angeles Dodgers, San Francisco Giants, New York Mets, Philadelphia Phillies and Montreal Expos.

California Trip

Following the relatively short homestand, the Padres will be off for single games in San Francisco on July 6-7 and then four games in three days at Los Angeles against the Dodgers July 8-9-10 with the July 10 date being a doubleheader.

The highlights of the homestand figure to come on July 3-4. The July 3 game with the Reds will be Central Federal Back Back Day with free back packs going to the first 25,000 youngsters 14 years of age and under with the compliments of Central Federal Savings and Loan Association.

Then, on Monday, July 4, the Padres will be presenting a gala post-game fireworks display to help celebrate the nation's 201st birthday.

Heavyweight Wynne Racks Up 7th Winner

The main event between Jose "Speedy" Gonzales and Baja California featherweight champion Alejandro Lopez was scrubbed Friday night when Gonzales claimed he was suffering from a bruised knee during a workout Wednesday.

To add to the frustration, Joe DaBaker featherweight fighter of Los Angeles phoned the S.D. Coliseum to report he had missed the plane for San Diego which, in turn, caused him to miss the fight with Irish Spud Murphy of San Diego's Hoover High School.

These developments did nothing to appease the crowd which had come to see Gonzales and Murphy.

To Murphy's credit, he presented himself in a 3-round exhibition with a what's-his-name-guy who outweighed him substantially.

Danny Millsap, Coliseum promoter then moved a heavyweight battle between Chula Vista's David Wynne and L.A.'s Buddha Brooks into the main go spotlight. Wynne raised his record to 7-0-1 when Brooks went down from a swinging right cross that didn't quite connect, at 1:06 of the 7th round. A large group of Southwestern College students occupied a section and cheered Wynne to victory. Wynne attends Southwestern.

Millsap said he has demanded a suspension of Gonzales and DaBaker for failure to appear. His charges were filed with the California Athletic Commission.

An exciting battle Friday was the opener. In it Greg Stephens of L.A. who KO'd Ted Sanders of L.B. at 2:57 of the 3rd round of a fight scheduled for 4.

Both men were in superb shape. Sanders (154) appeared to have the advantage until Stephens dropped him with a short right hook. These fighters should have a return match. They gave the fans plenty of action.

Campo's Bert Lee (146) won a decision over Ronnie Turner of L.A. after he dropped Turner twice. It was Turner's first pro fight and Lee now has a 2-1 record.

Scripito Stubbs (138) of L.A. lost a unanimous decision to Miguel Ruiz of Tijuana (133) after 5 rounds of action.

The next card will be July 8. The Coliseum is at 15th and E sts. in downtown San Diego.

BANKAMERICARD and MASTERCHARGE

Member of Antique Dealers Association of San Diego County

His outstanding effort is a labor of love since he has no ambitions of becoming an official of the City of Lemon Grove.

The good judgment of the voters is now being rewarded with this excellent council and is destined to be a happy city which may "never be wealthy but it won't be needy."

It bodes well to be the kind of a city with a middle-class atmosphere without the costly frills that disturb tax-payers. It also offers the atmosphere in which every citizen may be heard by his government when he needs to be.

The Council has all the earmarks of a financially prudent organization, one that will waste neither funds nor the government's energy.

Any way you look at it, the City of Lemon Grove should become one of Southern California's more pleasant communities in which to live, play and work.

the federal government's Title VII of the Older Americans Act.

The local projects in Lemon Grove and Spring Valley have since expanded to provide no or low cost meals to some 150 area seniors over the age of 60 years. The project has two centers, one at 3146 School lane in Lemon Grove and the other located in the Fellowship Hall of Lord of Life Lutheran Church, 950 Luther ave., Spring Valley.

Cage Bout Tops Grapplers Tues.

Wrestlers Tuesday night at the San Diego Coliseum will offer an unusual list of ring odds, according to Danny Millsap, the promoter.

A cage engagement match-ups Bull Ramos (350 lbs.) with Mexico's Chavo Guerrero. The winner is the one who gets out of the 8-foot cage. The loser must leave town.

Wrestler Victor Rivera is to be referee for the bout and Rivera then becomes the opponent of a boxer in the next bout. K.O. Perez will box Rivera, who is a wrestler.

Then there's a tag bout with Armando Guerrero and J. J. Dillon opposing Georgeous Keith and Roddy Piper.

In a finale, Tom Jones will wrestle a suitable opponent.

75-Lapper Tops 2-Day Program at Cajon Oval

Local racers fared poorly Saturday at the Cajon Speedway. Only one competitor, Pat McIntyre of Spring Valley, accrued points. He finished 3rd in the 8-lap heats but he is still in first place with 1,530 points.

Winner of the main event was Ron Esau of Lakeside. Lanny Pemberton of Lemon Grove who was pushing McIntyre for lead in the standings, dropped to 3rd place over the weekend, being replaced by Mike Hagerman of El Cajon by a mere 5 points. McIntyre has 1,530 points. Hagerman has 1,165 while Pemberton has carded 1,160.

Saturday night El Cajon Stock Car Racing Assn. has scheduled a 75-lap feature to top its full racing card.

Sunday night the mighty midgets of the U. S. Racing Club will make its first appearance this season at the Gillespie Field oval.

Racing action will get underway both nights at 8 with qualification runs preceding at 6:30 p.m.

Sunday will be the first time since 1968 that the little midgets, once the most popular cars in S. Calif., have appeared at Cajon Speedway and it will be the first time USRC has sanctioned a race there.

USRC has been training grounds for many drivers, some of whom have gone to greater glory in the USAC division.

A 30-lap main event will top the midget show which will also include a 15-lap semi, four 8-lap heats, and a trophy dash.

But Saturday night all eyes will be on stock aces Mike Hagerman, Lanny Pemberton, and Ron Esau as they continue to try to whittle down the point lead of Pat McIntyre.

McIntyre has fallen on hard times recently and has watched a 595 point lead shrink to 365 in only two events. Last week McIntyre could manage only a tenth place finish while watching Esau win, Hagerman finish sixth, and Pemberton grabbed seventh. Hagerman's sixth placed earned him enough points to retake second from Pemberton.
